

Latin Summer Work 2017

Head of Department: Mrs F Conway

Teacher of Latin: Mr M Sweatman

Task One - You should read Virgil Aeneid VIII in translation (i.e. in English). There are various translations available online, some more readable than others, but a trip to the library or to Amazon is recommended to obtain the Penguin Classics version with the translation by David West, which strikes a good balance between faithfulness to the text and readability.

ISBN-10: 0140449329

You can get this on Kindle for £4.99, a used paperback for £4.53 (inc P&P), or a brand spanking new paperback for £6.30 (inc P&P).

Task Two - If you wish to do further reading to help them with the Aeneid, you could also read books 2-7, or at least seek out a summary of what happened between book 1 (the GCSE set text) and book 8 (the LVI set text).

Task Three - Revision of GCSE grammar, particularly of noun declension / case endings, is also highly recommended.
